By Angela Cervantes, author — www.angelacervantes.com

Throughout the novel, Paloma comes across various self-portraits painted by the artist Frida Kahlo. At the end of the novel, Paloma and her friends, Gael and Lizzie, create their own self-portraits including important details about their adventure together. What important details about you and your life would you include in your self-portrait? What colors would you use? Would you smile or not smile? Draw your self-portrait in the space below.
